SAGES E-Newsletter #03 is out!

In this issue:

- Highlights from our recent workshops and conference sessions;
- New project research on creative economies, community resilience, urbanization and economic growth;
- What's next for the SAGES project;
- OECD well-being evaluation model.

The Newsletter is dedicated to SAGES project.

SAGES: Spatial Analysis of Growth, Environment and Sustainable project provides an in-depth, evidence based, and conceptual understanding of sustainable well-being determinants and patterns, will address the limitations of conventional approaches to happiness research by addressing key environmental and societal constraints, and introduce a new interconnected "place-based" framework, culminating with the Smiley Index.

The project is implemented by the Alexandru Ioan Cuza University of Iasi and managed by the Centre for European Studies (CES), within Faculty of Law. The project is financed by the National Recovery and Resilience Plan.
